“Blood is meant to circulate, so pass it around!”

It wasn't yet another customary, conventional day at college. It was a rather sanguine and cheerful day. The day marked the signature event of the Youth Red Cross of CEG, SUKARAKSHA'17, aimed at donating blood to the ones that need them critically!

The Doctors with Medical Teams from the Royapettah Government Hospital arrived at the Camp site around 9:00 a.m. The arrangements were made for proper blood donation by the YRC Volunteers. The camp inaugurated by Mr.D.Narasimhan, YRC Programme Officer donating the blood. Then, the students started pouring in. Without any second thought, sans expectations to get anything in return but with the thought to save a life, many donated their blood.

The students registered their name, department, blood type and phone numbers in the Registration Form. Their weights were noted and based on their hemoglobin count they were checked if they were eligible to donate blood. The donors were handed refreshments after they donated blood and presented with a certificate for their priceless service to humanity. Not just students, many teaching and non teaching staffs of Anna university also graced the event with their presence and contributed their blood. The event happened with such vigour and excitement that the time flew by with the speed of lightning.

More than 200 registrations and 134 donors, the camp was an eminent success and came to close around 3:00 p.m. after which the blood was safely taken by the hospital authorities back to the blood bank for use under emergencies. This camp stands as a testimony to every student's social concern and moral instinct to serve the society.
